

Home | FAQ | Who We Are | Get Involved | News & Updates

August 20, 2010

By CCSVI ATLANTA

We have completed our first month of scanning for CCSVI. 95% of individuals with a prior diagnosis of MS, CCSVI insufficiency was detected.

In addition, two individuals who do not have MS were also found to have CCSVI. One since a car accident several years ago, and another suffers from a sensory neuromyotonia (or muscles).

And a tremendous round of applause and appreciation to all of you who came to the advice of neurologists, who simply wanted to know if you indeed had a circulatory issue.

Your heartfelt courage has been an inspiration to all of us at CCSVI Atlanta, and we appreciate the assistance to each and every one of you.

And kudos to our sonographer, who with the utmost care and steadfast determination performed each exam.

Posted in Uncategorized | 3 Comments

Copyright 2010 CCSVI-Atlanta.org All Rights Reserved

Email: info@ccsvi-atlanta.org
404-941-2000